

Want to experience what it might be like to have autism?

AUTISM REALITY EXPERIENCE
PIECING THEIR WORLD TOGETHER

An innovative and immersive training experience designed to give participants an experience of sensory overload. Training2Care have developed this simulation as part of a structured training session that can be accessed by anyone wanting to learn more about how sensory differences in ASD can impact on daily life. As well as this unique insight, this course offers ideas and solutions to parents and professionals to help someone on the autism spectrum manage their day to day sensory needs more effectively.

OUR FEEDBACK

"The actual reality/experience part is a huge eye opener into what it's like to be autistic. I came away thinking that my little boy is a pretty amazing dude"

Janis Vagliani – Mother of Nicholas

Real tears of emotion when going through this amazing experience. I took my autistic son into the experience with me. Needless to say an insight into how he feels on a regular basis really moved me. When we come out of the experience I just kept crying. Every time I looked at him for a long time after I welled with admiration for his coping mechanism. They were tears of realisation ... tears of feeling a little of what he feels .... he actually seemed relieved I felt it too .... I wanted to just keep hugging him much to his annoyance. If you get the opportunity to go on this experience take it ... I cannot thank the team enough for opening my mind to what my son sees and feels in a world we take for granted.

"I Absolutely loved this training, it was hands down the best training I have ever done"

Sarah Curtis, The Lynwood Ashtree Nursery.
