Eastering COVID

We have been through deaths, we have felt the loss of life and of meaning.
We have remembered the senseless suffering of the cross on calvary.

All this is grist to God's mill that makes the bread of our resurrection.
All our struggles with suffering, all our searching for meaning,
Is caught up into a deeper wisdom,
Written into a longer story and caught up in the trust of a loving God.
Nothing is wasted.

And so, we struggle and we search knowing that beneath the ashes
The ripples of resurrection are already breaking through.
Casting an eternal light into our darkened memories, into our so sad hearts.

But our memories of covid will be eastered into a new and deeper life.
Belonging: going deeper,
Compassion: growing stronger,
Our world: more tolerant,
Our values: purged of greed.
Our horizon: widened to eternity.

The risen Jesus is already walking among us, inviting us to trust his Father
And to renew the Spirit.
So, talk to Him.
